Having trouble finding the perfect toy for your gradeschooler? These favorites are kid tested and safe, so your children will love 'em, and you'll be worry-free.

Karito Kids Doll

KidsGive

A doll for tweens that broadens horizons by introducing them to kids—just like them—from around the world.

Our mom testers said:

“They're faces are so lovely and life-like, and the values are so worthwhile.”

Why it's a winner:

Complete with a book, a passport, and a Web component, these international dolls are great role models for young women. Their clothes and bodies are age appropriate, and each one has a unique passion and interest in addition to their culture. Even better, KidsGive donates three percent of retail sales to the charity, Plan USA, and kids can decide how they'd their donation to be allocated.

Suggested retail price: $100
