

Karito Kids Doll Giveaway!

Filed under: Giveaway

Author: Dayna

by Kerri Jablonski, Director of Operations, CityMommy Seattle

CityMommy had the chance to review Wang Ling from the World Collections Dolls at the Karito Kids and we love them! The designers of the dolls have obviously taken great care in creating these 21" dolls that look the part of a girl from China, or Mexico or Kenya – not just taken a generic face and changed the wig, eye and skin color and clothing.

The Wang Ling doll is high quality, with a vinyl breastplate that allows her to wear cute fashions but still have a huggable factor - which is important for little girls!

Each doll comes with wonderful chapter books about the character in one of six countries: USA, China, Mexico, Italy, Kenya, Australia. They are all are all culturally unique and each has their own area of interest. Also included with the doll is a small passport. In the front, it has information about the doll like her name, age and where she's from (including world and country maps) The passport also has information about the website, caring for your doll, and the truly unique feature of the doll line – the children's charity that Kids Give supports.

Karito Kids are designed to promote charitable giving and global and cultural awareness. With each product that is sold, 3% of the retail is donated Plan USA, a worldwide children's charity. With each purchase you receive a code that can then be entered on the website and the kids can direct their donation to one of the four causes- food, home, school or health.

If you are looking for a special doll for your daughter, niece, etc., Karito Kids is definitely the way to go. They offer the whole package - Beautiful quality doll, trendy well-made clothing, great story, cultural learning and charitable giving!

You can purchase any of the World Collection Dolls directly from the Karito Kids site or you can check their site for a retail store near you.

Thanks to Karito Kids generosity, one CityMommy reader has a chance to win a Karito Kids Doll of their choice retailed at $99.99! Go to the the Karito Kids site and check out all the great products they offer and stop by and check out the charity section. Come back here and leave a comment telling CityMommy your favorite World Collection Doll and what Cause you would choose for your donation.

Contest ends Monday, August 31st.

Join CityMommy

Members Login Here

recent comments

recent articles

Renee: Lulu from Kenya is my favorite. I love that she is an athlete.

Tricia Z: I love the Gia from Italy doll and would donate toward health for children. Thank

Clair: I like Pita from Mexico. Almost all my students are from Mexico, and I

Mary F.: My favorite is Pita from Mexico and if I could pick the charity, it would

melissa: I love Gia from Italy because she loves fashion so cute! I would pick

ShootingStarmag: I really love Gia from Italy and if I could pick any charity, I'd love

Sara: Great ideas for hot summer or cold winter. I'm looking forward to trying them

Dawn @Moms Inspire Learning: While these are all great ideas, my favorite one is finding a story hour! While Deirdre: Great suggestions! I feel like I do the same things over and over... !

Mamakiddo: This is so great CityMommy, I feel sort of more in touch with the whole

Entries \(RSS\) Comments \(RSS\)

Enter your email address:

Subscribe

Delivered by FeedBurner