

Meet Your Neighbor – Karen Williams

By Lora Carroll/The Leeds News

Karen Williams was a stay-at-home mom for years raising her children, Joshua and Regan. After watching her children grow up and a little nudging from her friend, she now owns a women and children's emporium called 2 Chicks in downtown Leeds.

2 Chicks features bath and body items, baby items, monogrammed items and Karito dolls that are similar to the American Girl dolls. When girls buy the Karito Kids dolls, they can then go online and donate some of the money used to purchase the doll to different charities like 'Nets for Africa.'

"Everyone has been really receptive and everyone seems to love the new store," said Williams. "I've had a really good experience here."
