SHELF TALKERS: CHECK OUT THESE NEW ITEMS

KIDS GIVE

Kids Give has introduced another variety of dolls to its Karito Kids line. The lower-priced Travel Charmers have the same philosophy as the original—to educate kids about different cultures and countries. In this version, each Travel Charmer comes complete with a souvenir charm that represents the country the doll has "visited" on her travels. For example, Gia is an Italian doll who travels to France, and as such, is dressed in a French outfit complete with a beret and carries an Eiffel Tower charm. Kids can collect the charms and add them to Travel Charmer charm bracelets, which are sold separately. The dolls are available online and at specialty retailers with an MSRP of $20, while the bracelets have an MSRP of $8.
